"I've been involved with computers for a very long time, having wrote my first program in 1963 for a computer that is now in the Smithsonian. I built my first website back in 1996 or so. I've dealt with lots of hosting services and I have never dealt with any group of people as competent, friendly, and responsive as the folks at Softsys hosting. We've been with SoftSys Hosting (using their Singapore data center) and they are one of the best cloud providers to deal with. The uptime has been 100% and support is truly 24/7 - they are available immediately and at all times. With knowledgeable support team backing our cloud servers, we are at peace and ensures good sleep! We have added few servers over last years and plan to continue growing with them.
